August 28, 2022 — TWENTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading — Conduct your affairs with humility and God will favor you (Sirach 3:17-18, 20, 28-29).

Psalm — God, in your goodness, you have made a home for the poor (Psalm 68).

Second Reading — You have approached Jesus, the mediator of a new covenant (Hebrews 12:18-19, 22-24a).

Gospel — When invited to dine, take the lowest place. Those who humble themselves will be exalted (Luke 14:1, 7-14).

HUMILITY

Today's readings praise the virtue of humility and offer concrete ways for us to become more humble. The Book of Sirach suggests a practical reason for acting with humility: humble people are more likeable than the arrogant. Even God "finds favor" with those who humble themselves. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus provides real-world suggestions for growing in humility and teaches us never to assume we are better than others. His words change our outward behavior and expand our hearts and minds to care about people we might have dismissed before.

This practical, almost "folksy" wisdom about humility helps us behave better in daily life and makes our lofty goal of eternal life more accessible. Our reading from Hebrews affirms that heaven is indeed approachable. The personal love and sacrifice of Jesus have opened "the city of the living God" to us. Humility prepares us for paradise.

The World Day of Prayer for the Care of Creation, September 1, kicks off the Season of Creation, a time of sustained prayer and action which lasts a month and four days, until the feast of St. Francis of Assisi on October 4th.

Established by Pope Francis in 2015, the day is inspired by the pope's encyclical Laudato Si', which calls on "every person living on this planet" to care for our shared Earth.

Fasting before Communion

Some older folk may remember the fast before Communion lasting from midnight of the day before until receiving the Eucharist. It was as tough discipline. Today, the Church asks us to fast for only one hour before Communion. Here is what the Code of Canon Law states: "A person who is to receive the Most Holy Eucharist is to abstain for at least one hour before holy Communion from any food and drink, except for only water and medicine." There is no direction on how long to wait after receiving Communion but we were taught that the "species" of the holy Eucharist remains in us (in our stomach) for 10 to 15 minutes until digested; for that reason, pious common sense suggested not eating or drinking for 10 to 15 minutes after holy Communion. That advice seemed unnecessary as Mass did not conclude until 10 to 15 minutes later.

For priests the fast must have also been difficult when saying multiple masses so Canon Law responded: "A priest who celebrates the Most Holy Eucharist two or three times on the same day can take something before the second or third celebration even if there is less than one hour between them."

Also given benefit of the doubt are the sick and their caretakers: "The elderly, the infirm, and those who care for them can receive the Most Holy Eucharist even if they have eaten something within the preceding hour" (Canon 919).

MISSION CO-OP APPEAL

Fr. John Bosco Perianayagam, Vicar General for the Diocese of Chinglepet, India, comes to us today to promote education among the poor children in India.

Around 70% of Christians in India are Dalits, a marginalized group without any rights or power.

Dalits are formerly known as "Outcaste or Untouchables." For centuries, they have been deprived of education, social justice and equal opportunity. Due to poverty, the children are unable to continue their schooling and end up working in restaurants, tea shops, brick kilns, hazardous firework factories, etc. More than 15 million children are listed as child laborers in India. The only way these children can break this vicious cycle of poverty, abuse and oppression is to return to school.

Your support will make a difference in their lives.

YOUTH FAITH FORMATION NEEDS HELP

We are looking for volunteers to help with our Youth Faith Formation program. There are many roles besides teaching for volunteering (free lending library, set-up/clean-up, special projects and events). You can also think about co-facilitating a class with another adult. It's a unique way to serve, while also growing in your faith! If called to this ministry, please call Loy at the office or email her at loy.oppusmoe@dsj.org.
